

DRAGON

Before Dragon began to DJ, he was always interested in music. As a kid he took interest in playing the guitar. Years later, creating his own music sparked his interest. He started making beats on an iPad mini but didn't take it too seriously. As time flew by he noticed a good friend of his was starting to pursue rap and it motivated Dragon to take another step further into music. So he invested in a MacBook Pro and downloaded a cracked version of Logic Pro X and would take his MIDI and go into cafe's and coffee shops to work on music. Later in the years he moved into his own place and created a makeshift studio in his house where he taught himself to make beats, mix and record vocals.

Fast forward years later, he was presented the opportunity to expand his music ventures by joining Mix Us Happy, a music seminar presented by AltrXego and led by DJ Eko as the teacher. In the past, Dragon was motivated, he spoke to other people in the industry and was told being a DJ works hand in hand with being a producer and he only wanted to expand.

Dragon doesn't claim a specific genre, but you are likely to catch him playing his favorite Hip-Hop or Trap songs. Many times, he will slip in some EDM in the middle of his sets. You can almost guarantee Dragon will mix music with Atlanta based artists like Young Thug or playing hyphy music from the bay seamlessly. Dragon is also no stranger to EDM. At his first performance at The Globe Night Club, he curated an EDM set that surely got the whole club dancing and jumping. Dragon's journey as a DJ is still at its beginning stages. Stay tuned and catch his next exciting performance 🐉
